

SOUTHLAND MERCHANTS
TASTE THE ORIGIN

DETAILS:

Grower: Élio Uliana
Farm: Sitio Pedra Bonita
Region: The Mountains of Espirito Santo
Altitude: 850 – 950 metres
Packaging: 30 Kg specialty paper bag with liner
Variety: Yellow Catuai e Catucaí 785
Process: Pulped Natural
Harvest: Sept-december

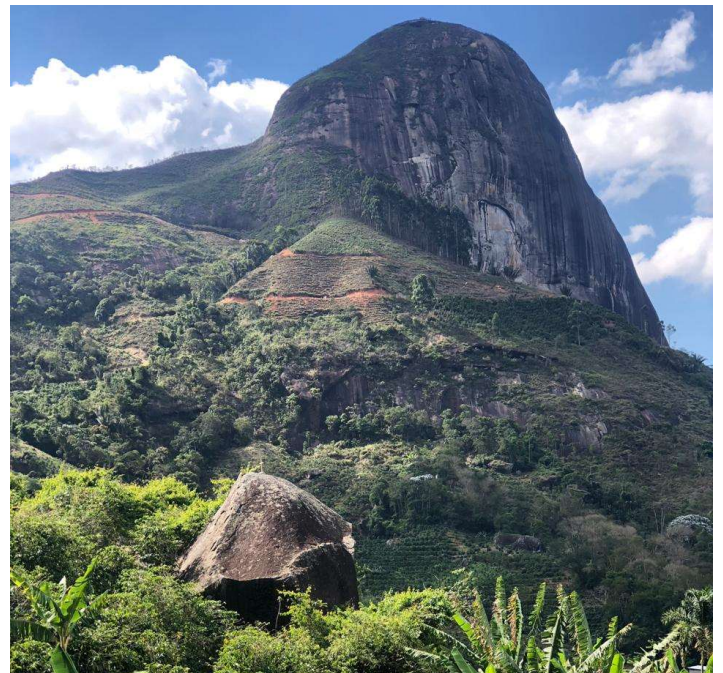

FARM INFO: SITIO PEDRA BONITA

Sitio Pedra Bonita is situated in the Brejaubinha, the mountains of Espirito Santo. The grower, Elio Sileza inherited the farm from his wife parents and today they cultivate the farm's 20 hectares.

The land's principal activity was always commercial coffee, however, in learning the market opportunity in 2005, they began to invest in specialty coffee production, which increased the family's income and their life style.

The Uliana family discovered specialty coffee through a local coffee competition. They were fascinated about it and saw the opportunity to work with this beauty and decided to focus on specialty coffee production instead of commercial ones.

"Our specialty coffee has attracted an array of awards and has enabled an economic situation for our family that has much value in a few short years," said Elio.

Connecting coffee Growers with coffee Lovers
Follow us: @southlandmerchants

SOUTHLAND MERCHANTS
TASTE THE ORIGIN

REGION: THE MOUNTAINS OF ESPIRITO SANTO

The Montanhas do Espírito Santo region is dominated by small-scale coffee-growers and is characterized by the presence of growers who are actively engaged in the entire chain of the production process. Growers in Espírito Santo work with family members and build off of traditional knowledge to innovate and improve their quality of life and coffee. Located in the southern area of the Espírito Santo state, where mild temperatures (73°F) and steep highlands (between 700 and 1,200 meters) favor growing Arabica coffees, this region produces a superb quality coffee with a round body, nice acidity, and fine sweetness. While the most common process for the region is Natural but Pulped Naturals are increasing in popularity.

Connecting coffee Growers with coffee Lovers
Follow us: @southlandmerchants

